

Workplace Bullying – In the news

Are you causing your staff mental injury?

Then get ready for a big, fat lawsuit, as claims and awards for psychological damage at work soar... [\[more\]](#)

Michael McCullough, Canadian Business
February 14, 2011

Duking it out with bad managers

'Bad apples' often tolerated if they get results, but they're a headache for human resources. ... [\[more\]](#)

Wallace Immen, Globe & Mail
January 21, 2011

Taming a temperamental superstar employee

When Wayne McHale was a senior executive with a large international manufacturing firm, he heard reports that staff in one of the branch offices was fed up with the arrogant and condescending attitude of a hotshot new manager. ... [\[more\]](#)

Angela Kryhul, Report on Business
December 3, 2010

Legislative punch needed to curb office bullies

Group of professionals calls for better protection for victims of psychological and emotional abuse... [\[more\]](#)

Darah Hansen, Vancouver Sun
November 23, 2010

Bullying takes its toll in workplace

Bullying is a hazard in the workplace – but it's not just an occupational hazard, like getting a bad boss instead of a good one, or ending up in an office with co-workers you don't really like. ... [\[more\]](#)

Kim Covert, Postmedia News
November 17, 2010

Courts don't treat bullying lightly

If abusive behaviour is such that the court concludes, in all of the circumstances, no employee should have to put up with it, the employee can resign and sue... [\[more\]](#)

Howard Levitt, Financial Post
Nov. 10, 2010

Bullying at work worse than gender, racial harassment: Report

Just as Ontario is set to pass a new bill making workplace harassment illegal, new research from Queen's University 's School of business indicates that workplace bullying can be more damaging than racial or gender harassment... [\[more\]](#)

Julie Fortier, Financial Post
June 14, 2010

When a leader becomes a bully

Defining a “bully” is easy for dictionaries. Otherwise, it is a matter of perspective. What is the difference between being a bully and having an assertive management style? Are the courts and tribunals the best situated to decide?... [\[more\]](#)

Howard Levitt, Financial Post
May 13, 2009

Bullied right out the door

Workplace bullying has already undermined one in three workers and could cost more innocent victims their jobs as economic pressures increase, an international anti-bullying expert predicts. ... [\[more\]](#)

Katherine Dedyne, Times Colonist
November 20, 2008

Workplace bullying effects underestimated: study

The bad days are behind her now, but three years ago relentless teasing and criticism by female colleagues at the lab where she worked nearly ruined Tina's life. ... [\[more\]](#)

Murray Oliver, CTV News Video
March 8, 2008

Is this the end of the Toxic Boss?

Judges are sending corporate bullies a message: treat your employees with respect ... [\[more\]](#)

Sarah Scott, Macleans
September 3, 2007

Mob Mentality

...You are being mobbed at work when colleagues attack your dignity, integrity and competence over a period of months or years. ... [\[more\]](#)

Vicki O'Brien, BC Business Online
June 1, 2007

Battling the bully (Roudtable)

A recent BCBusiness story on workplace bullying (“Bad boss, bad boss,” Dec. '06) clearly hit a nerve. We received an overwhelming response from readers, revealing an ugly undercurrent beneath the facade of today's high-performance workplace. ... [\[more\]](#)

Perry Zavitz, BC Business Online
May 1, 2007

The big, bad boss

When people quit, it's not the company they're leaving ... [\[more\]](#)

Katherine Macklem, Macleans
October 17, 2005

Workplace bullying

It dismantles teamwork, hobbles productivity – and costs money. ... [\[more\]](#)

Sarah Hood, Canadian Business Online
September 13, 2004